Partnership shall strive to address such challenges based on a long-term, mutual relationship reflected in common ownership of the project. All partners shall be included in preparation as well as actual and financial implementation of the project. In project proposal evaluation and selection process, capacity of the whole partnership will be considered. EXPECTED PROGRAMME OUTCOMES

In the tables below, expected outcomes and respective indicators on the level of the ACF in Croatia are presented. Presented information should serve as a guide in development of project ideas as only projects contributing to at least one of these outcomes shall be considered for financial support of ACF. In the reporting process, the Fund Operator shall pay notice also to the additional impact, i.e. achievements of projects that do not contribute to Programme outcomes but are nevertheless very important.

Each of the three outcomes has specific indicators, outputs and outputs' indicators set. Tables present the whole framework while also offering clarifications on individual indicators.

Programme outcome 1: Strengthened civil society watchdog/advocacy role

This outcome aims at increasing the number of national laws and policies influenced by CSOs' advocacy and strategic litigation, contributing to improved legislation and a more influential CSO sector. Through strengthening CSOs in evidence-based advocacy, monitoring of public and private decision-making and professional campaigning, the intention is to build the public image of CSOs as experts, hence the Fund Operator aim at increasing the number of media appearances where CSOs are invited to provide expert opinions on current societal issues.

In the area of democracy, the focus will be on developing sustainable Programmes for monitoring of decision-making institutions and innovative methods for advocacy and campaigning. Environmental CSOs will be encouraged to address the “democratic deficit” in their work, i.e. to build their constituency and involve more people in their advocacy activities.

Number of people reached by campaigns will be based on evidence from CSO records of citizen reach through public events and media through audio/ video/ print/internet media outlets and social media.

Programme outcome 3: Strengthened democratic culture and civic awareness and engagement

This outcome will contribute to an increased share of the target group showing civic awareness and to increase shares of empowered vulnerable individuals. The Programme will enable supported CSOs to engage more in civic and human rights education by working and partnering with educational institutions and other public entities in addressing gaps between the educational standards of civic education and practice existing in Croatia. In the scope of this outcome, we will prioritise youth as the main target group of civic education and awareness-raising campaigns to increase the concern for human rights.

The Programme will promote social inclusion by supporting CSOs to improve existing or pilot new participatory methods for involving vulnerable groups in the development of new approaches for addressing of their needs. The Programme will also support CSOs to enhance the capacities of vulnerable groups to advocate for their needs and the needs of their communities through participatory advocacy methods by consulting vulnerable groups on public policy decisions and awareness raising campaigns. These are the key activities and measures that will empower vulnerable groups, while special attention will be given to those with multiple factors of vulnerability, e.g. Roma and migrants (ethnicity combined with poverty), elderly living in poverty etc.

In the scope of this outcome, we will also foster constituency building and mobilisation of citizens in civic activities. The program will contribute to increasing the citizens' capacity to act at local and community levels and strengthening CSOs with volunteers and their support to CSOs. This is particularly important at the local level where CSOs will work on nurturing engagement of citizens to demand for their rights to be upheld, to volunteer, to embrace causes, and to hold governments accountable. This is especially important for growing social capital of active citizens and groups, as well as to make CSOs more constituencies based.

Outcome/Output	Expected programme results	Indicator	Clarification
Outcome 3	Strengthened democratic culture and civic awareness and engagement	Share of persons who show civic awareness	Democratic political culture depends on the acceptance by both citizens and political elites of a shared system of democratic norms and values. These include tolerance of diversity, interpersonal trust, social capital and a sense of political efficacy on the part of individuals. A democratic political culture also requires that citizens have knowledge about their system of government. Civic awareness refers to citizens' attitudinal adherence to this system of democratic norms and values, evidenced by public opinion research, based on scientific studies of citizenship.

		Number of vulnerable individuals reached by empowerment measures	Empowerment measures refer to activities contributing to improvement of conditions and building of skills of individuals of the vulnerable groups to enact their rights and to enable them for active participation in social and economic life. Hence, this indicator refers only to individuals included in empowerment measures, not all individuals included in other project activities. Target of this indicator are new approaches to development of services for vulnerable groups, especially participatory methods for inclusion of vulnerable groups in service development aimed at their needs (development of services in collaboration with end users). Ensuring access of services for vulnerable groups can be one of the activities, if it represents a service in a wider awareness raising, advocacy, empowerment efforts, or as a part of reform and change initiatives, litigation. Addressing needs of vulnerable groups with multiple factors of vulnerability (such as, Roma and poverty, migrants and gender, asylum seekers and sexual orientation,) is encouraged.
Output 3.1	Civic and human rights education supported	Number of CSOs (project promoters and project partners) engaged in civic education	To enhance outreach and impact of civic and human rights education, active engagement of specialised CSOs in designing, delivering and promoting best practices in civic education is an instrumental catalyst of the education reform undertaken by the Government, and serves as a complementary incentive for innovation, quality and broader and deeper outreach to different target groups, among whom children and youth are of principal importance. Therefore, this indicator is intended to promote CSO work in designing and implementing of such education, viewed as the Programme's contribution to the public education reform objectives.
		Number of public and educational institutions partnering with CSOs on civic and human rights education	To enhance outreach and impact of civic and human rights education, cooperation between CSOs and public and educational institutions is necessary. Therefore, this indicator is intended to promote cross-sectoral partner work in designing and implementing of, viewed as the Programme's contribution to the public education reform objectives.

Output 3.2	Outreach to and empowerment of vulnerable groups supported	Number of new or improved methods developed to address the needs of vulnerable groups	This indicator refers to identification of needs of vulnerable groups and development and implementation of new or upgraded methods, i.e. methods not being in use in the organisation before. The expression 'vulnerable groups' refers to women, ethnic, minorities, immigrants, and other disadvantaged groups, who in many countries have not been part of the traditional mainstream that has benefitted from economic growth. For this reason, these disenfranchised groups have tended not to participate in the political process, nor have they learned the advocacy or monitoring skills needed to represent or safeguard their own interests.
		Number of CSO initiatives consulting vulnerable groups on public policy decisions	Due to their disenfranchised and marginal position, citizens who are members of vulnerable groups have tended not to participate in the political process, nor have they learned the advocacy or monitoring skills needed to represent or safeguard their own interests. This indicator intends to document and affirm the CSOs' catalyst role in enhancing political participation and policy-making engagement of vulnerable groups.
Output 3.3	Citizen mobilization and engagement promoted	Number of volunteers working in supported CSOs	Democratic political culture depends on the acceptance by both citizens and political elites of a shared system of democratic norms and values. These include tolerance of diversity, interpersonal trust, social capital and a sense of political efficacy on the part of individuals. A democratic political culture also requires that citizens have knowledge about their system of government. Civic efficacy is demonstrated by civic collaborative action through volunteering through CSOs, on causes of common civic concern which regard the protection and promotion of the shared system of democratic norms.
